SAUL + ELAINE

In 1955, Elaine Bass joined Saul Bass & Associates, and after 1960 much of Saul Bass's title design and film work was made in collaboration with Elaine.

A close-up, high-contrast image of a human eye, heavily tinted with a deep red color. The eye is looking slightly to the right. The word "VERTIGO" is printed in white, bold, capital letters across the center of the iris. The eyelashes are dark and prominent, and the overall texture of the eye and surrounding skin is visible despite the strong color cast.

PABLO FERRO

Pablo Ferro (1935-2018) was a graphic designer and film titles designer from Antilla, Cuba. He is most well-known for his title design work on Dr. Strangelove, The Thomas Crown Affair, Bullitt, The Addams Family, & Men In Black.

VERNACULAR

The language or dialect of a specific population, as opposed to a language of wider communication. If something is described as being “in the vernacular”, it means that the thing being described possesses the characteristics belonging to a specific subculture.

VISUAL

Vernacular is also a “look” that is associated with a particular time, place, event or group.

It characterizes the images that comes to mind when referring to any one of these specific things.

It's a visual reference to zeitgeist (the defining mood of a particular period of history).

NARRATIVE

Because of this capability to communicate more than the simple use of color, pattern or image, visual vernacular has the power to represent deeper meaning — alluding to style, belief systems, geographic region, time period, or cultural directions,
